

Diploma of Film and Video

1. About the Diploma of Film and Video

The Diploma of Film and Video provides graduates with knowledge and some skills in screen-based video production and post-production with basic skills developed in cinematography, lighting, editing, colour grading and sound design. This enables graduates to potentially engage in suitable motion design related sectors and employment opportunities. The specialisation interweaves the acquisition of practical skills with the study of moving image design, film, television, and media theory. The course design incorporates industry-informed briefs. In this way graduates have design generalist knowledge in film and video.

The Diploma of Film and Video enables students to enrol into the specialised field of study as opposed to the current 'generic' diploma offering improved student experience and focused/relevant learning opportunities. The diploma consists of shared subjects with cross-discipline diplomas and bachelors providing both on-boarding support, exposure to bachelor programs for pathway opportunities as well as genuine exit qualifications.

The course structure consists of 12 subjects, one of two established diploma course models at Torrens University Australia. The traditional 8 subject diploma (usually 1/3 of a bachelor as opposed to a qualification designed as a genuine exit point) does not provide opportunity to cover the content required to gain the knowledge and skill sets expected by industry for entry level employment with end-to-end skills; ideation/concepting, prototyping, producing and presenting, as well as development of a portfolio – an essential representation of creative potential to gain employment in the design sector. The 12 subject model offers opportunity for lower entry admission to align with our competitors, and a heightened level of focus on transition pedagogy for the dual student demographic of school leaver and career changer seeking to upskill.

Feedback from students (both formal and informal) and industry has been that our current 8 subject diploma of digital media is too generic and does not offer the specialised skill sets expected and required within industry.

To meet the needs of a dual target market (School leavers and career changers/upskilling), we require both on-boarding transitional pedagogy subjects at the start of the course and industry preparation and transitional subjects at the end of the diploma in the same format as our current diplomas in 12 subject structure. For students wishing to pathway into our bachelor program we have included 1 x 200 level subject to prepare for the transition to AQF 6 level study. Students gain 8 subjects in block credit into the relevant bachelor course. This is the same credit currently and historically applied for our existing 12 subject diplomas and their respective bachelors.

Graduate employment opportunities

This specialisation provides graduates with the capability to seek employment in a range of film and video design-related roles, including:

- Colour grader
- Compositor
- Social media video production

- Titles designer
- Video editor
- Videographer

To achieve placement in some of the roles mentioned above, a graduate of the Diploma award will require a strong creative portfolio that compliments their chosen study area. The graduate can expect to undertake these roles as permanent or freelance employees, either within a dedicated film and video design environment, or alternatively as an in-house designer working for organisations based within some of the following sectors: advertising, business/commercial, media/publishing, education/training.

3. Student Profile

The table below gives an indication of the likely peer cohort for new students in this course. It provides data on students who commenced in this course in the most relevant recent intake period, including those admitted through all offer rounds and international students studying in Australia.

Applicant background	Trimester one / Full year intake [2020]
	Number of students	Percentage of all students
(A) Higher education study (includes a bridging or enabling course)	N/A	N/A
(B) Vocational education and training (VET) study	N/A	N/A
(C) Work and life experience (Admitted on the basis of previous achievement not in the other three categories)	N/A	N/A
(D) Recent secondary education: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Admitted solely on the basis of ATAR (regardless of whether this includes the consideration of adjustment factors such as equity or subject bonus points) Admitted where both ATAR and additional criteria were considered (e.g. portfolio, audition, extra test, early offer conditional on minimum ATAR) Admitted on the basis of other criteria only and ATAR was not a factor (e.g. special consideration, audition alone, schools recommendation scheme with no minimum ATAR requirement) 	N/A	N/A
International students	N/A	N/A
All students	N/A	N/A

Notes: “<5” – the number of students is less than 5.

N/A – Students not accepted in this category.

N/P – Not published: the number is hidden to prevent calculation of numbers in cells with less than 5 students.

5. How to apply

Via direct application to the institution

- <https://apply.torrens.edu.au/>

6. Advanced standing/academic credit/recognition of prior learning (RPL)

You may be entitled to credit for prior learning, whether formal or informal. Formal learning can include previous study in higher education, vocational education, or adult and community education. Informal learning can include on the job learning or various kinds of work and life experience. Credit can reduce the amount of study needed to complete a degree.

Applicants admitted based on prior higher education study may be eligible for Advanced Standing in the form of credit and/or recognition of prior learning (RPL) under the Torrens University Australia Credit Policy - \(https://www.torrens.edu.au/policies-and-forms\).

- Students with completed subjects may be eligible for specified credit and/or elective exemptions
- Students who have completed a qualification at AQF level 5 (diploma) or above may be eligible for block credit (where a block credit agreement exists)

- Students with a mix of formal study and informal and/or non-formal learning may be eligible for recognition of prior learning in addition to any credit approved.

Credit will not be applied automatically. Applicants must apply for credit and/or RPL as early as possible prior to each study period, with applications not accepted after week 2.

For further information about credit and recognition of prior learning please see <http://www.torrens.edu.au/apply-online/course-credits>.

8. Additional Information

Course Structure

The course structure comprises two common core subjects, 10 specialised subjects over levels 100 and 200.

Course Rules

To be awarded the Diploma of Film & Video, students must complete 120 credit points (two core and 10 specialised subjects as outlined in the course structure). Each subject has a value of 10 credit points.

Subjects

SUBJECT DETAILS
SUBJECT TITLE, DESCRIPTOR
LEVEL 100
DSO102- Design Studio 1 This subject explores the relationship between materials and storytelling. It introduces students to the attributes of materiality and encourages them to re-imagine the possibilities of creating through making. Students will explore the art of paper folding, developing skills and taking creative risks. These results will be captured digitally and altered using the appropriate software. Individual tasks allow students to develop an understanding and appreciation of materials, their many varied uses, properties, and the sustainable manufacturing processes related to them. Students will progress towards determining suitable materials in which to construct their final model with its form and function contextualised and supported by a documented process journal. Their final submission will be a model that reminds us that stories which fill our lives are not only spoken and written but sometimes are best told through craft.
DGDDD100- Digital Design Foundations

SUBJECT TITLE, DESCRIPTOR
This subject introduces a core set of industry-standard specialist design software tools. The emphasis of this subject is on building a comprehensive familiarity with these tools and features so that their application becomes second nature and can be treated as part of the overall creative tool kit. Students will work through a range of small exercises to cement their learning and to build their working knowledge by experimenting with the different tools and techniques. Students will then combine these tools and techniques to explore print and screen-based projects and in doing so, become aware of how to create flexible visual outcomes not wedded to single-use mediums
IVL100- Visual Language of Photography This subject serves as an introduction to communicating with imagery. Students explore theories of visual communication as tools to develop their own visual language. They will gain skills in observation, idea generation, and effective visual communication in the context of photography and moving image. Students will also study the history and evolution of photography including the origins of moving image acknowledging the major influences and commentators of the industry.
ICC100- Camera and Capture This subject aims to introduce students to the foundations of photo imaging and to develop comprehensive technical skills of operating a digital camera and build experience in taking pictures under a range of conditions. A percentage of time is devoted to students receiving feedback on their recently taken images and learning to give constructive criticism to their peers, enabling them to start seeing and thinking like a photographer. Students are also introduced to primary principles of moving image/video creation.
DSO103- Design Studio 2 Design Studio 2 offers an introduction to the building blocks of creating and developing brands and is designed to give students a broad understanding of the stages and methodologies adopted in the brand development process. The subject draws on the theory and practice that sits behind brand creation. It covers the broad spectrum of brand development, values, trends and branding techniques, as well as fundamentals such as brand positioning and brand architecture. The subject also explores the relationship between branding and audiences, cross-cultural influences and shifts in consumer behaviour. Students must first understand and apply the fundamentals of branding and then go on to use that knowledge as the basis for developing and progressing a brand. This theoretical and practical subject will equip students with the knowledge and insight with which to build their own branding expertise.
PMI100- Psychology of Moving Image This subject explores a variety of theoretical and philosophical approaches to how the moving image changes the perception and psychology of the consumer. This subject is audience oriented and focuses on the reception and interpretations of communication, which then influence which visual and aural strategies are employed. Students explore fundamental psychological concepts about dynamic and moving imagery translation of meaning. Students employ these new understandings to tell stories and produce works that trigger specific emotional reactions and feelings with audiences
DIG104A- Motion Design

SUBJECT TITLE, DESCRIPTOR
This subject focuses on the foundational skills required for high quality video productions. The process of developing a live action video piece is introduced along with all of the phases from pre-production through to post-production. Students explore the necessary skills in camera-based production including basics of lighting, sound recording and video editing. Students are also introduced to motion graphic design in the post-production phase through concepts such as compositing, video masking and animated title sequences.
ILL100- Light and Lighting In this subject students are introduced to the properties of light and its evaluation, measurement and control in photo capture. Students learn basic techniques of lighting, including how to identify and manipulate the colour, quantity, and quality and direction of light. Insights into the emotive nature of lighting will be gained, giving students the skills to creatively modify and apply light in a range of studio and location settings for both Photography and video.
BCI100- Beyond the Creative Industries This subject introduces a wide array of emerging trends and interdisciplinary career opportunities that sit outside traditional creative industries. This subject explores the intersection of technology and design across a range of industries looking beyond the field of entertainment. Students broaden their understanding of potential career opportunities by challenging existing stereotypes where specialist technical skills are utilised. Students are encouraged to investigate case studies, identify emergent trends and examine strategies to develop, navigate and cultivate collaborations with professionals from other specialisations.
WIL100- Work Integrated Learning This subject is designed to provide students with professional experience in an area related to their field of study or the career they are working towards. Within the framework of an industry brief in conjunction with an industry client, students will learn how to unpack a defined challenge into achievable outcomes and use this framework to guide the creative process and final deliverable. Students will develop presentation techniques and objectively respond to constructive criticism and feedback. This experience will enhance work-ready skills and allow students to see first-hand how their learning translates into practice.
DPO100- Digital Portfolio and Showreel This subject provides students the ability to develop a digital portfolio focusing on the key areas required to develop employability outcomes within the digital design field. This subject identifies the requirements and approaches to freelance work, in conjunction with investigating trends and emerging technologies to inform entrepreneurial attitudes and solo operator work opportunities. This subject will culminate in students devising their own personal story, identifying their niche style, and packaging their work into a portfolio and/or showreel that they can continue building upon in years to come. This portfolio will be the central piece that is used to engage with work opportunities either to digital studios or as their own freelance designer.
LAP200- Live Action Production (Pre-requisite DIG104A)

SUBJECT TITLE, DESCRIPTOR
This subject continues to explore the theory and practice of live action video production. The subject introduces production planning concepts and techniques that enhance production experiences. The subject expands student’s awareness of video production techniques with more detail on the creative and technical aspects of working with cameras, lighting and sound. The investigation of film theory and history is continued with an emphasis on enrichment of idea generation and concept development processes. The subject explores the use of video editing, sound design and post-production techniques to communicate mood, narrative and information.

Locations

The Diploma of Film and Video can be studied fully online or at the below Torrens University Campuses:

- Sydney: Level 1, 46-52 Mountain Street, Ultimo NSW Australia 2007

Campus Facilities and Services

All campuses are designed to provide students with professional spaces in which to learn and work. They have been planned with student study needs in mind with well-equipped accessible learning spaces as well as student breakout areas for group work and spending time with friends.

Facilities and Services include:

- The Customer Service Hub – our friendly and experienced staff can give help and advice about courses, your enrolment and campus life, including all services and activities on campus.
- Counsellors are available for students to consult with on a range of personal issues
- Student wireless access throughout the Campus
- Student break-out and relaxed study spaces for group work
- Student lounge areas – most with microwaves, kitchenette facilities and vending machines
- The Learning Hub, home to the Learning Support Team, encompasses Learning Skills Advisors, Learning Technology Advisors, and Library & Learning Skills Officers. It provides an integrated, holistic support program for students throughout the study lifecycle within a library/collaborative study environment.

The service includes:

- Support and workshops with highly qualified staff in the areas of Academic skills, Library skills, and Technology skills, both on campus and online.
- Physical and digital resources relevant to studies, such as books, journals, multimedia, databases
- Self-check kiosks for library loans and print and copy facilities

A positive student experience

Torrens University Australia values the importance of a positive student experience, and therefore has robust processes to resolve student complaints. The Student Complaints Policy, and associated procedures, can be accessed from the website (https://www.torrens.edu.au/policies-and-forms).

Paying for your qualification

We offer two payment options for this course:

- Upfront payment

If you want to complete your qualification debt-free you can choose to pay as you go. This means tuition fees will be invoiced each semester and payment is required on or before the due date using EFTPOS, credit card or direct transfer.

- FEE-HELP

FEE-HELP is Australian Government's loan scheme for higher education degree courses. It can assist you in paying for all, or part of, your course fees. Repayments commence via the tax system once your income rises above a minimum threshold ($45, 881 in 2019-20). Just like with any other debt, a FEE-HELP debt is a real debt that impacts your credit rating.
